

Abstract

The present invention relates to novel pharmaceutical compositions based on new anticholinergics and NK<sub>1</sub> receptor antagonists, processes for preparing them and their use 5 in the treatment of respiratory diseases.